imgule's

First founded in 1968 by Josef and Elda Wagmeister as a small family business, today Polyfaser is one of the leading companies for premium glass fibre-reinforced plastic (GRP) swimming pools and roofing systems. We are successful throughout Europe thanks to our top quality, complete reliability and ability to fulfil everyone's swimming pool dreams in terms of shape, design and function.

Our extensive product range is all manufactured at our company headquarters in Prato allo Stelvio in South Tyrol. That is where, every year, we produce about 800 monobloc pools, 300 roofing systems and 25 element pools, all using the latest technologies.

And we also owe our excellent reputation to our careful planning, punctual delivery, smooth assembly and professional installation of our pools.

VARIETY

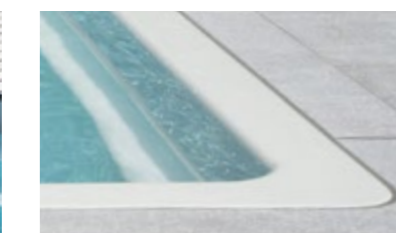

Straight lines or stylishly curved? Discreet elegance or a design statement? We give you every freedom in the design of your blue paradise: a dream come true for bathing beauties and water lovers.

From the shape and length of the pool to the steps and the roofing system, our 30 different models offer design options to please everyone. People who like clear-cut, straight lines can choose one of our classic rectangular monobloc pools, and, because they are all made by hand, any pool can easily be made longer or shorter.

Alternatively, with their gentle curves, our free-form pools are an eye-catching feature in any garden. We're also confident that we can meet your personal needs when it comes to getting into the pool. As to the colour of your pool, you certainly won't find it easy to decide, because you only see the full effect in the interplay with water and light.

All our straight-sided pools can be individually shortened or lengthened.

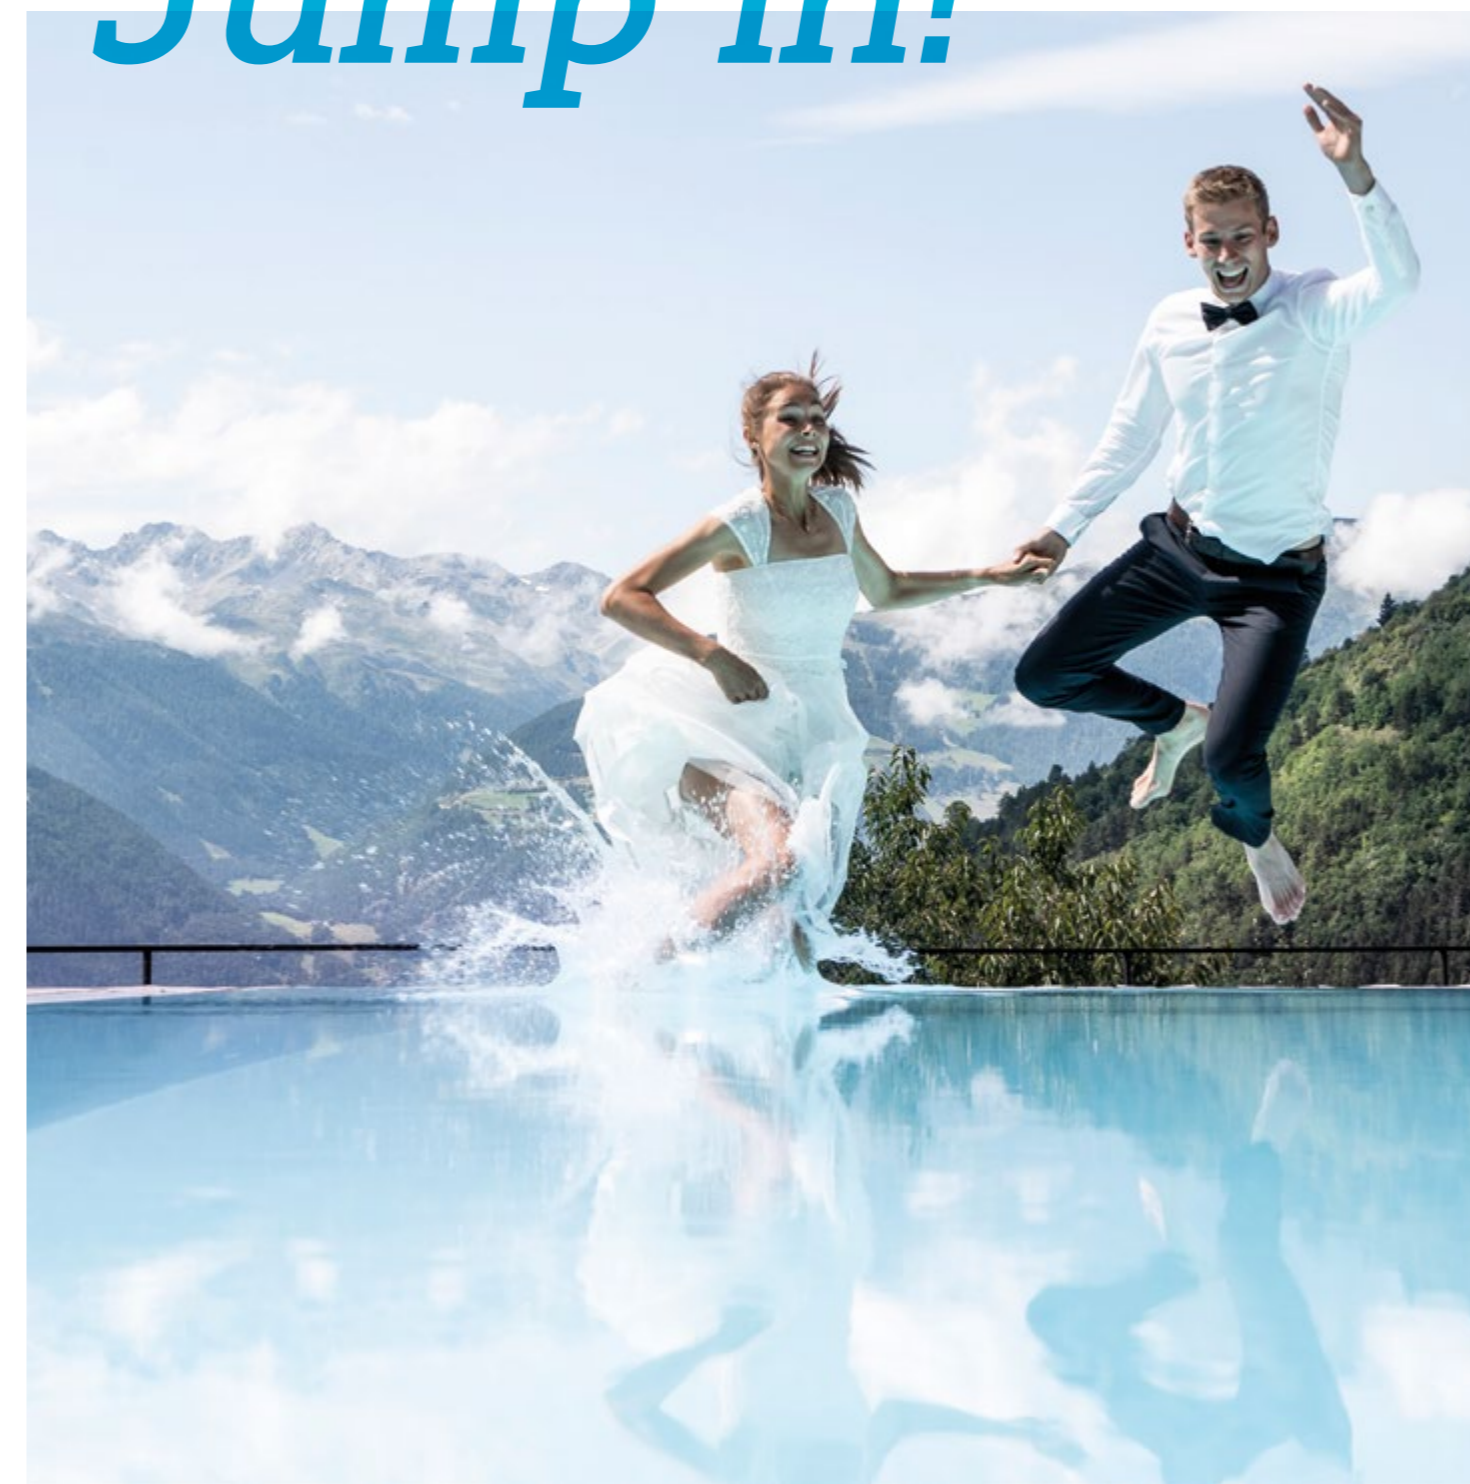

Pool surround

An attractive edge adds the finishing touch to your pool. On all Polyfaser models, the impeccably crafted pool edge allows the surround be individually designed to meet your wishes. Popular, low-maintenance materials include stone slabs, tiles or wood which can be laid above, below or flush with the pool edge, to provide your pool with the elegant framework it deserves. The overflow drain system can also be covered with a traditional plastic grille or with stone slabs.

Rollover cover

The rollover cover integrated in the pool is one of our most popular features. Virtually invisible when rolled up, when opened out it floats on the water and offers many clear advantages:

- Safety for children and pets
- Reliable protection from debris
- Insulation and effective retention of the thermal energy of the water
- Noticeable reduction in heating costs

A modern electric motor makes opening and closing the cover easy and almost silent. With the exception of free-form pools, all our pools can be fitted with this simple, very practical and elegant solution.

The 'Back' roller box is built into the side of the pool from outside, is almost invisible when open and leaves the whole length of the pool free. The vertical screen, in the same colour as the pool, can be swivelled or fully removed.

'Cover Light' roller box: this is installed in the pool itself and optionally concealed with an additional cover, which also serves as a convenient and practical bench for sitting on.
